"Behind These Prison Walls"

"These are the locks that open the doors that close on the inmates that live in the jail the county built." The automatic opening and closing devices are a part of the features incorporated in the new county jail that has received the seal of approval from state agencies and that is now in the finishing stages. At far right you are looking down a row of single cells and at left, bottom, is a view of the outside, including slit window, from the prisoners' day room.

Rogers School Board To Call Bond Election

The Rogers school board will call an election before the end of the year to decide on a $300,000 bond issue for additions to Rogers High School.

Decision was made by the board last week and the date will be set after consultation with the district's fiscal agent.

The money would be used to construct and equip a building across the street from the present high school which would house five vocational teaching units, a room for business classes and a band hall. Funds would also be used for remodeling some existing facilities on the Roger school campus.

Rogers Supt. Wayne Cornelius said he did not know what effect the bond issue would have on school taxes if it passes.

Taxes are now $1.69 per $100 valuation at 42 percent of market value.

Growth of Rogers school population in the past few years and the addition of the mandatory kindergarten program has crowded Rogers school facilities nearly to the limit, Cornelius said. He said the crowding is really a problem in grades 6 through 12.

In related action, Cornelius told the Bell County school board of planned expansion at Rogers "to keep communications open" should any action be taken with Seaton, the only remaining common school in Bell County.

Cornelius said Rogers is still keeping the door open for possible consolidation of the Rogers, Buckholts, and Seaton districts to qualify for the state's incentive aid program.

He noted that if the three districts consolidate, it will boost the combined average daily attendance to more than 750, the required level to qualify for the incentive aid program.

"If the districts combine to qualify, this would mean $550,000 to the taxpayers of Rogers, Buckholts, and Seaton," he said. "This is what we could qualify for."

Cornelius said he has kept in touch with Buckholts Supt. Leon Brady over possible consolidation. Together, the two districts' student populations are about 25 short of qualifying for incentive aid and both he and Brady agree they cannot give their respective districts voters a good reason for consolidation.

On April 13, Seaton voters rejected consolidation with the Rogers district by a 2-1 margin. Seaton voters voted Aug. 10 to raise their school taxes from $1.10 to $1.50 to pay tuition charges levied by Rogers. The Rogers district began charging tuition this school year for all transfer students.

Seaton school teaches kindergarten through eighth grade in a four room schoolhouse. Thirty-one high school students from Seaton transferred to Rogers.

Area Roundup

Construction Worker Killed

SOMERVILLE

A 56 year old Brenham man was killed last Friday in an accident on a construction site near Lake Somerville. Cecil Chadwick Hart received a fatal shock when a crane he was operating came in contact with some power lines. Death by accidental cause was ruled by the justice of the peace.

Driver Education Expands

HEARNE

Four new district s including Hearne have now been added to the 23 who are participating in the Region VII driver education program. The acquisition of a third simulator car now makes it possible to reach about 4,000 student drivers within the region with this unique, automated method of driver education.

Taxpayers Still Resisting

BELTON

The Belton school tax board of equalization is still in session with taxpayers discussing the proposed 92 percent increase in school taxes. A taxpayers organization has presented seven resolutions to the school board in an emergency session, seeking the lowering of the proposed increase in taxes.

Anthrax Breaks Out At Corn Hill

GEORGETOWN

Georgetown veterinarians administered anthrax vaccine injections to more than 500 head of cattle after the deadly blood infection calmed one cow in north central Williamson County. The anthrax death was reported Sept. 22 on the J. P. Moore farm at Corn Hill.

Grant Approved For Airport

MCGREGOR

The Federal Aeronautics Administration has approved an airport development of $66,900 to the city of McGregor. The grant will be used to provide easement for clear zones, construct an apron extension, mark runways, and to install segmented circle and lighted wind cone.

ROCKDALE

Although it's not really a new building, the rejuvenated 36 year old Rockdale Post Office could pass for new. The building has undergone extensive remodeling in the last three months and now faces Rockdale with a new front step arrangement, modern bronze anodized aluminum windows and a number of inside improvements.

Operation Noah's Ark Underway

WACO

Operation Noah's Ark is underway in Waco, with a drive to obtain funds to furnish transportation and housing for animals donated to the Cen-Tex Zoo by Ralph Emerson Wild Animal Farm in Connecticut. To participate in Operation Noah's Ark a family can buy a year's membership for $10.

Auto, Bull Collide

GATESVILLE

An automobile and a Brahman bull collided on Hwy. 84 about 17 miles west to Gatesville with the auto getting the worst of it. Damage to the auto was set at $1,000. The bull escaped with abrasions but was enraged by his hurts and officers and some volunteer helpers had a hard time getting the bull back in his pasture.

United Fund Agency

Salvation Army Ready To Help

(Another in a series of stories about local agencies that benefit from the United Fund. A drive for $10,000 is underway in the city.)

Hundreds of people, local and transients, were helped by the Salvation Army in Cameron last year, receiving emergency aid that they would not have received from any other agency.

This past summer, several local boys attended Camp Hohlitzelle, a Salvation Army facility at Midlothian near Dallas. They enjoyed a week-long outing the modern camp free of charge.

Local services are carried out directly by the Service Unit Committee which represents the Salvation Army in smaller cities. Help is also available from the state level of the Salvation Army.

Forrest Sapp is chairman of the local unit, which includes representatives from local churches, the county welfare department and local law enforcement officials.

Emergency services offered by the Salvation Army include replacement of furniture, for example, lost in a fire, by renovated furniture from the Salvation Army in San Antonio. Sapp said one local family had their burned furniture replaced in this way. The local service unit pays half the cost of the furniture from local funds.

Only requirement is for the family to find some way to get to San Antonio to pick up the furniture, Sapp said.

Depending on the immediate need, the local Service Unit will pay for groceries, lodgings, utility bills, rent, or minor medical or dental expenses including transportation to obtain medical treatment.

Of funds allocated, one-third remains with the Service Unit for its local welfare program and two-thirds are reserved for the Salvation Army's broad statewide services in which the local community is entitled to share.

The local unit has provided furniture for families whose homes were destroyed by fire, paid bus fares or bought gas for stranded transients, along with food. Other help included buying school supplies for children whose families were having financial problems.

State Salvation Army services are available for problems that cannot be handled by the local committee alone. A community struck by a tornado or flood, for example, would need the statewide help of the Salvation Army to get effective relief.

There are private matters also that are best handled through inquiry from the Service Unit to the Army's state headquarters. Seeking a missing person or contacting a prisoner up for parole are functions of the Correctional Services and Missing Persons Bureau.

Rehabilitating alcoholics is the life work of the Men's Social Service Center and the Harbor Light Center.

One of the Army's finest programs is the care given to unwed mothers at the Home and Hospital in San Antonio. Young victims of personal tragedy are helped physically and mentally to return to society with a new, improved outlook on life.

New Rockdale Hospital Plans Dec. 1 Opening

December 1 is the target date now on schedule for the opening of the new $2.5 million Richards Memorial Hospital in Rockdale.

Charles Upshaw, hospital administrator, said that in recent months an earlier opening had been planned, but various delays have put back the opening until December 1.

This is still several months earlier than the contractor's specified completion date of March 1975.

Exterior construction is complete and all that remains is some interior finishing work plus installation of moveable equipment and furniture. Beds and other room equipment have been assembled and placed in rooms.

Upshaw said that charges for private and semi-private rooms have been set at $48 and $44, considerably less than for rooms in city hospitals. He said television and telephones are available in every room, at extra cost.

Completion of the hospital will climax nearly five years of planning and work and the hospital is projected to serve a n area of about 10,000 people, including the south Milam and north Lee County areas.

The new hospital has 32,000 square feet of floor space and will provide 47 beds, seven bassinets, 37 private rooms and five semi-private rooms. Two of the 47 beds will be in the hospital's coronary care unit and two beds will be used in a pediatric unit.

The nurses station is semi-circular in design and faces three patient wings as well as being adjacent to the coronary care units.

Calves Bring $4 More At Auction

Prices for some stock rose as much as $4 at the Cameron Livestock Auction Thursday and other slight rises were seen from the current deflated prices for cattle.

Auction barn officials said there were 521 cattle offered and demand was good with strongest outlet on slaughter calves, which were up $4 from last week.

Feeder steers and steer calves were $1 to $2 higher, but at $24.50 to $27.75 for choice were still down from prices of a year ago.

Choice slaughter calves sold for $26.20 to $30.25 while good grade brought $24 to $27.25. Feeder heifers brought $24 to $27.50 for choice down to $19.50 to $23 for standard. Slaughter bulls were not tested.

Absentee Voting Set

Secretary of State Mark W. White, Jr. today announced that all voters wishing to cast an absentee ballot for the November 5 General Election may do so beginning October 16. According to Secretary White, the proper absentee voting procedure will depend upon each individual voter's situation.

Those persons who expect to be absent from their county of residence only on the day of the election may vote by personal appearance during regular office hours at the county clerk's office.

Those persons who expect to be absent from their county of residence both during the time for voting by personal appearance and on election day can make application to their county clerk requesting that an absentee ballot be mailed to them at an address outside the county.

In addition, those person residing within the county but unable to vote on election day due to sickness, physical disability, religious belief, or incarceration for less than a felony, can also make application to their county clerk requesting that an absentee ballot by mail.

White noted that the absentee voting period for the November 5 General Election will continue through Friday, November 1.

In addition, White said some counties may have established additional absentee voting locations for persons wishing to vote absentee in person and suggested that anyone interested in determining where such locations may be, contact their county clerk.

The Provincial Trenches...

The essence of the Fourth Estate is that everything is its province.

It used to be just words and pictures on paper. Now it is words in pictures, the ultimate of which will be the transmission of the electronic newspaper to TV receivers or viewers.

The need for great reporting, concise editing, vigorous editorials, independent leadership never has been greater nor more apparent at state and national level.

Excesses of the Fourth Estate are no more than the excesses of a booming guns-and-butter economy which now slows to a peacetime quest for balance and sense.

The newspaper, whether print now or visual later, is a leader in asserting direction and noting society's trail.

It is not always a pleasant task. Explaining why people and governments do things is part of the province. And in doing the job, newspapers show there is little provincial anymore. Or in a sense, there never was.

It is not exactly Boy Scout's work, but it is for good objectives. . . The press finds a lot of things "are in name only." And that is why it gets interesting in unexpected places.

This October 6-12, the Fourth Estate notes National Newspaper Week, a week Texans might associate with Sharpstown and Americans Watergate, a week in which critics might say "stuff goes on all the time, so what else is new?"

For one thing, elective government. And another, a more modern press sizing itself up for another year in the provincial trenches.

Peanut Butter Highway...

Nutty things happen all the time, but this time it was on a highway.

Seems six tons of peanuts ended up on the right-of-way of Interstate 35, somewhere north of San Antonio.

"Nut" result was that four cars piled up and one driver was slightly injured.

The truckload of goobers spilled from beneath a semi-trailer driven by Alvin Penney. The driver said he heard a crack like a shotgun blast. The spill required two hours of work by a tow truck, front-end loader and a street sweeper for restoration of the 25 ton load, one report said.

It's probably the only time traffic got hung up in peanut butter.

German Luftwaffe Pilot Reveals Wartime Plot

By George Vine

Reuter-- General Johannes Steinhoff, the German air ace who shot down 176 Allied planes in World War II, has revealed details of a near rebellion by a group of Luftwaffe fighter pilots in the final stages of Nazi Germany's defeat 30 years ago.

The scar-faced veteran flier, who retired from atop NATO post earlier this year, has written a book which is about to be published called "In the Final Hour--The Plot of the Fighter Pilots".

In it he relates how he and four other highly decorated Luftwaffe colonels conspired to have Field Marshal Hermann Goering removed from command of the German air force for incompetence.

Their attempt failed and they were lucky to escape court martial for mutiny. Goering finally poisoned himself in an Allied prison after being condemned to the gallows for war crimes.

But if the pilots had succeeded in removing him, German cities might have been spared a lot of the appalling destruction they suffered from British and American aerial bombing.

As the war lengthened and the Allied air armadas grew in size and power, Hamburg, Cologne, Dresden and other large cities were subjected to merciless day and night "carpet" bombing.

The Luftwaffe seemed powerless to protect the homeland. Hitler blasted Goering and the fat field marshal put the blame on his fighter squadron commanders, accusing them of cowardice.

For months the pilots had been pleading with Goering to re-equip the fighter defense squadrons with the Messerschmitt 262, the world's first jet combat aircraft to go into active service. Without these they were helpless against the formations of American Flying Fortresses with their massive firepower.

But Hitler, obsessed with the doctrine of the offensive, refused to allow the revolutionary new high-speed jet planes to be used for defense. And Goering, his willpower drained by drugs and soft living, weakly acquiesced.

On January 19, 1945, after several backdoor attempts to remove Goering, the five colonels leading the revolt had a personal confrontation with him. Shaking with fury he accused them of treachery and mutiny and threatened to have the ringleaders shot.

Shortly before this, Johannes Steinhoff had been summoned to the "wolf's lair," Hitler's headquarters in east Prussia. To receive from the Fuehrer's own hands one of the highest awards for bravery. At a secret meeting in the backroom of a Berlin restaurant the colonels' cabal deputed Steinhoff to try to persuade Hitler to let them have the Messerschmitt jet.

"I had heard of Hitler's famous carpet-biting tantrums and on this occasion I actually witnessed one," Steinhoff recalls today with a ghost of a smile. The Fuehrer stormed and raved and foamed at the mouth. Defensive thinking was defeatedist thinking he screamed. The war must be carried to the enemy. The bomber arm was the only one that mattered. The new jet which could elude all air defenses were being saved up for a new mass attack on Britain.

Steinhoff was not allowed to get a word in edgewise. Hitler ended his tirade with a lecture telling him that the jets, because of their high speed, could only be operated in straight and level flight.

His personal physician had assured him, said Hitler, that the human body could not stand the strain of being twisted and turned in a plane travelling at speeds approaching 435 mph. So, that was that.

Alcoa To Sponsor TV Program

Aluminum Company of America will alternate sponsorship with the Exxon Corporation of American Broadcasting Company's "Issues and Answers" program during the 1974-75 TV season. Alcoa's first program was aired Sunday and featured U. S. Senators Edward Muskie and Walter Mondale.

An elected or national figure or international personality is interviewed by ABC news correspondents each Sunday on 16 Texas stations at 12:30 p.m. (Central).

Alcoa's participation and commercial exposure on this program is an extension of a program designed to establish the relevance and importance of aluminum in our economy and way of life. The campaign also hopes to communicate the many ways in which aluminum helps save energy and conserve resources.

Norway Borders Soviets, NATO

By John Chadwick

BODOE

Reuter--A World War II Spitfire--the station's mascot-- is the first thing that catches the eye in the huge underground hangars at Norway's biggest air force base here.

But on all sides, ready to fly, stand the razor-winged F 184 Starfighters which form the backbone of Norway's air defenses today.

Since the NATO alliance received a rude jolt on its southeast flank with the conflict between Greece and Turkey over Cyprus, eyes are turning to NATO's only other common border with the Soviet Union--in Northern Norway.

Foreign Minister Knut Frydenlund has sharply denied press rumors that the Russians are putting pressure on Norway to demilitarize the northern border region.

But high-ranking officers here made it clear that the NATO alliance remained at a high state of vigilance. They admitted having breathed a sigh of relief when neighboring Iceland decided not to insist--as feared--on closing down the vital American base at Keflavik.

In this sensitive but almost forgotten region on the roof of Europe, the western and Soviet blocs daily wage a quiet war of surveillance with the aid of latest technical devices.

From the ice-free port of Murmansk, Soviet nuclear-missile submarines cruise out into the Atlantic, passing between Norway's North Cape and the Norwegian Spitsbergen Islands close to the North Pole.

Around Europe's top corner also fly Russia's four engine "Oear" reconnaissance planes on regular Atlantic sweeps which take them, according to officers here, as far as bases in Cuba and Conakry in West Africa.

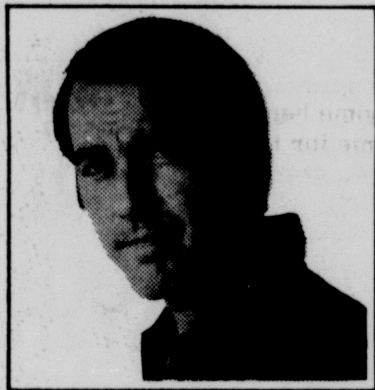

Western reconnaissance from North Scotland and Iceland is equally active. "The Keflavik base is very important," said Major General Neil Srveschoug to visiting correspondents.

"If NATO had not been able to keep it we would have had to rely on Rosyth, in Scotland, that would be more expensive and the planes would be three hours less on patrol."

Along the fjords of Northern Norway, a battlefield in World War II, NATO every second year holds big landing exercises code-named "Express" with 6,000 troops from Britain. The United States, Canada and the Netherlands.

On the other side of the border, the Russians, who have built up the Kola peninsula into one of their most important military base areas, also frequently organize large amphibious naval operations.

Norwegian official sources say Soviet exercises in the area using land, air and naval forces have been steadily increasing in the past 15 years.

"I'd like to know more about the nuclear power plant you're planning."

Q. "Where will it be located?"

A. The Comanche Peak Nuclear Generating Station will be built on a site about five miles north of Glen Rose in Somervell County.

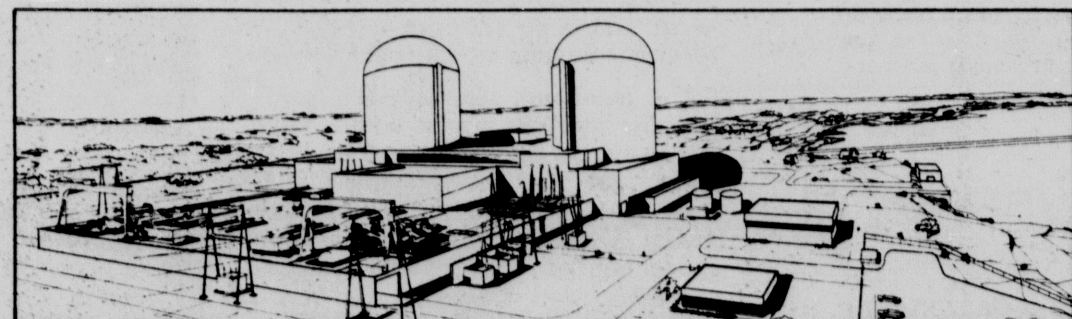

Q. "Will some other companies be getting power from the plant?"

A. Yes. The plant will be jointly owned and utilized by Texas Power & Light, Dallas Power & Light and Texas Electric Service.

Q. "How much land area will be involved?"

A. Approximately 8,500 acres. This will include a 3,200-acre lake adjoining the plant which will provide cooling water for the plant.

Q. "Have you started construction?"

Artist's concept of proposed Comanche Peak Nuclear Generating Station.

A. No. The planning phase was begun in 1972 and is still in progress. Construction of the plant is expected to begin during 1975.

Q. "When will TP&L customers start getting electric power from the plant?"

A. The first of two 1,150,000-kilowatt units is scheduled to go into operation in 1980 and the second in 1982.

Q. "Why is a nuclear plant necessary?"

A. Rising costs and a shortage of future supplies of natural gas and oil compel a change to more economical and readily available fuels for generating plants. Within the next five years, TP&L will reduce its dependency on gas and oil with plants designed and constructed to burn lignite coal. While it is anticipated that lignite will continue to be an important fuel well beyond the year 2000, the long-range solution to fuel problems appears to lie in nuclear generating plants.

Q. "How safe will the plant be?"

A. The planning, construction and operation of the Comanche Peak plant is subject to close examination and rigid regulation by the Atomic Energy Commission and other federal and state agencies. Devices and procedures in the plant will guard against every conceivable possibility which might endanger plant employees or the general public. Today, there are 50 nuclear generating units in the United States and there has never been a nuclear-related injury to a commercial nuclear power plant worker or member of the public.

AGA Project Proposes Pipeline

The proposal of a $6-billion trans-Alaska project to bring vast North Slope natural gas supplies to the lower 48 states is another major step towards alleviating the energy crisis for millions of consumers, an American Gas Association spokesman said today.
"This is a most encouraging development in our country's efforts to attain any reasonable degree of domestic energy self-sufficiency," Herbert D. Clay, AGA chairman, said in reference to the El Paso Company's formal proposal of the project to the Federal Power Commission.
"As we said some six months ago when an application to build the trans-Canada natural gas pipeline was filed, A.G.A. supports any project that will begin moving Alaskan natural gas supplies to the American consumer as soon as possible."
Clay, who is chairman and chief executive officer of the National Fuel Gas Company, Buffalo, N. Y., observed that the vast North Slope gas and oil discovery was made more than five years ago, yet, "not one cubic foot of the 26-trillion cubic feet of proven reserves of Prudhoe Bay area gas has been brought out." The potential supply of Alaska is estimated at 366-trillion cubic feet, he added.
Under the El Paso Company plan, the North Slope gas would be transported across Alaska in a separate pipeline, paralleling the oil pipeline now under construction. The pipeline would end in the vicinity of Valdez on Alaska's south coast, where the gas would be liquefied. Shipped via special (cryogenic) tankers to the west coast of the United States, El Paso states, "the gas will move into all major U. S. markets."
Clay pointed out that because of the efficiency, low price and environmental acceptability of gas, this country during the past five years has been using clean-burning natural gas twice as fast as it has been finding new supplies.
"Natural gas provides more than one-third of the energy used in this country and more than half the energy used by American industry—twice as much as any other source," Clay said.
"We welcome this positive step taken to bring Alaskan gas to the lower 48 states," Clay continued, "however, we must not forget the development of Alaskan resources is but part of a broader, overall program to achieve domestic energy self-sufficiency."
prove the supply of natural gas, the key to energy independence, cited by the gas industry spokesman were:
1. Decontrol of the field prices of new natural gas to encourage exploration and development of vast domestic resources.
2. Modification of leasing policies to permit broader participation in exploration and development of the potential of the Atlantic Outer Continental Shelf and other areas.
3. Accelerated research and development of pipeline quality synthetic gas from other sources, including this country's enormous coal supplies.

P&P Club Installs Officers

The Pleasure and Profit Club began its thirtieth year of activities with an installation service and social hour at the home of Mrs. Fannie Jackson on Sept. 12.

Mrs. Frances Walzel installed the following officers:

Mrs. Laura Grimes, president; Mrs. Janette Bledsoe, vice president; Mrs. Jean Tumlinson, secretary-treasurer; Miss Ada Margaret Smith, reporter-historian.

Mrs. Jackson distributed yearbooks and introduced the program theme for the year, "Woman's Role in Today's World."

The first program of the year was given at the home of Mrs. Bledsoe on Sept. 26. Mrs. Patsy Nance reviewed the biography "Daktar" by Dr. Viggo Olsen. This was the story of a Baptist medical missionary who served in East Pakistan (Bangladesh) during 1964-72 when that territory withdrew from West Pakistan.

Mrs. Bledsoe served sandwiches and punch to 12 members.

FROSH, JV UNLOAD ON LEANDER

Blocking, blocking, and more blocking was the key to Freshman and Jr. Varsity victories Thursday night. The Freshmen beat the Leander Lions 30-0.

With 8:36 left in the 1st quarter, #25, David Rosemond ran back a punt to score. He covered just over 40 yards before he crossed the magic line. A try for the two-point conversion failed. During the first quarter the Lions couldn't establish any kind of offensive drive. With 5:59 left, Yoeman #44, Michael Knight scored from 3 yards out. The play was made possible after James Walter, #70, on a tough defensive tackling caused a fumble. Millard Daniels was the first Yoeman to cover the pigskin. Another 2 point conversion attempt failed and the Freshmen led 12-0.

Early in the 2nd quarter Michael Rosemond was called on by quarterback James Burnett. He sneaked through over the tackle slot and scored 6 for the Yoemen. As the buzzer sounded to end first half of play the Freshmen were well in command, 18 to 0.

During the second half the Lions, who have been unable to score a victory thus far this season, couldn't stop the Yoe High Freshmen. Another 6 was tallied when Rosemond, with effective blocking ahead of him, walked in untouched for the fourth TD. Once again the two point conversion trot nailed.

The Lions started to move the ball, but #44 Michael Knight intercepted an under-thrown pass by the Lion quarterback Mike Mountain.

With the complete Freshman bench alternating, the Freshmen were able to tally one more touchdown. Alan Richardson, #30, plunged over from the 1 inch line for the 6. The PAT failed.

The game ended with the Freshman on top 30-0. The Yoe High Junior Varsity walked past the Leander Lions 77-0.

NO. 42 Mike White and No. 33 Gene Kopriva provide No. 20 Jafus White with openings for more yards, Mike Peck Photo.

Yoe Downs Leander Lions, 28-0

The Leander Lions didn't roar Friday night against the powerful Yoemen defense. The final score noted the Yoemen ahead 28-0.

During the first offensive series the Yoemen were confronted with a fourth and 2. Powerful Gene Kopriva was called on to pick up the yardage. A power play up the middle was the source for the first down yardage.

After an unexpected tough defense the Yoemen were forced to punt. Leander Lion quarterback, #16, Bubba Glosson was unable to stimulate any kind of offensive drive during the first quarter. The pigskin was placed on the Yoe 49 yard line and Kopriva took the ball off tackle and scrambled in for 6. Kicking specialist Joey Mondrick provided the foot for the PAT that was through the uprights. The first quarter ended with the Yoemen in command 7-0.

Bubba Glosson started going to the air during the second quarter. Most of the receivers seemed to be alone but were unable to catch the ball. Glosson went unmolested during the whole 2nd quarter where he attempted 6 passes and completed only one.

The second Yoeman score came after a 43 yard drive with 8:43 left in the 2nd quarter. Powerful running plays by Gary Trdy, Gene Kopriva, and Jafus White set up the TD. Brian Wilkinson had the honors to take the ball in from the 1 yard line. Joey Mondrick on the PAT for the extra point was successful. The Yoemen owned the ball at the close of the first half of play. The score was 14-0 and the Yoemen were able to go to the dressing room well in command of the game.

Yoe quarterback Jeff Smitherman continued to use Kopriva as the running back and big #33 was able to tally over 114 yards rushing.

The Lions were able to break through to Yoemen territory only three times during the four quarters of action.

Late in the third quarter, with less than 1:58, Smitherman connected with Gary Hornung for 6. The pass play covered 14 yards with a line of blockers providing a clear passage for Hornung. Joey Mondrick booted the ball through the uprights for the PAT.

Smitherman displayed his scrambling ability as he dodged pass rushers to complete a 38 yard pass to Jafus White that set up the 4th Yoeman TD. With 11:27 Brian Wilkinson plunged 9 yards to cross the magic line for 6. Mike Mondrik provided the blocking that allowed Wilkinson gapping holes. The score board at Lion Stadium showed the Yoemen over the Lions 28-0.

The Yoeman defense was able to sack the Lion quarterback repeatedly throughout the fourth quarter. The Lions assembled a surprisingly strong offense and defensive team.

In the past three ball games the Yoemen have not allowed their opponents to score a single touchdown. This is one game in a series of seven district games the Yoemen will face before the season ends. The Yoemen have assembled a 3-0-1 season thus far.

Poage Calls For Work

SAN FRANCISCO

Chairman W. R. (Bob) Poage, D-Tex., of the House Agriculture Committee, told delegates to the U. S. Independent Telephone Association's 77th annual convention today that hard work that increases production is the only sound cure for inflation.

Observing that the conventional attack on inflation is credit restriction, reductions in government spending and increased taxes, the Central Texas Congressman warned that a precipitous reversal of inflationary trends can set off a deflation.

The program will provide a forum for doctors, lawyers, religious leaders and the general public to reevaluate the social and legal policies regarding the question of whether or not to sustain the life of one who is terminally ill.

Dodge Corp. Moves At Rockdale

Effective Oct. 1, Palmetto Dodge Corp. of Rockdale has moved its dealership to 139 W. Cameron St., across from city hall in Rockdale.

However, Palmetto Dodge Corp. agreed to allow Henry to return to business for himself at that time, sharing the facilities previously leased by the corporation.

Lawyer To Speak At Death Symposium

State Calendar Lists Texas Fairs

AUSTIN

From the Panhandle to the Gulf Coast, and from the East Texas Piney Woods to the prairies of West Texas, fairgoers have a choice of more than 20 state, county and regional fairs listed in the Texas Highway Department's new Calendar of Texas Events. The Calendar includes activities throughout the state from October 1974 through March 1975.

Headlining the fairs is the gigantic State Fair of Texas in Dallas, October 4-20, with this year's theme, "Exposition of the West."

In addition to fairs, there's the Tyler Rose Festival October 9-13, Rebel Days in Harlingen, October 20-27, and CavOILcade in Port Arthur, October 24-27.

Other major events you might want to plan for include the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth, Jan. 24-Feb. 2; the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, Feb. 19-Mar. 2; George Washington's Birthday Celebration in Laredo, Feb. 13-16, and the many spring flower trails in March.

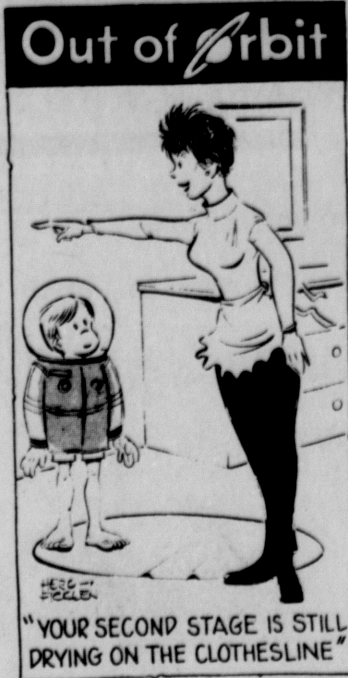

More than 600 events are named in the Calendar, which is free for the asking from the Travel and Information Division, Texas Highway Department, Box 5064, Austin 78703.
